Since september 1989 and until the broke of the ensamble (1995) he has been conductor of the Chamber choir of the RAI of Rome. He is artistic director of the International choral competition of Riva del Garda (Trento), and National choral competition of Quartiano (Italy). He is regularly invited as president and member of jury of the most important international choral competitions and to give relations at musicological meetings and stages of choral conducting and of performance practice at national and foreign associations. In attended to the recording of the Vespri per la festa di Ognissanti by Giovanni Giacomo Arrigoni and the unabridged editions of Lamentazioni e i Responsori per la Settimana santa, op. XXII e XXIII by Lodovico Viadana, Missae «Beata es virgo Maria» and «Illuminare Jerusalem» by Giovanni Contino and Concerti ecclesiastici by Giacomo Moro da Viadana for the discographic companies «Concerto» and «Stradivarius» respectively; with the Ensemble «Micrologus» he has recorded a CD entitled Europa concordia musicae, with polyphonic music of XV and XVI centuries, ordered by the Cabinet and the RAI (Italian radio and television broadcasting corporation) on the occasion of the Italian six-months period of presidency of the European Union. For the discographic company «Nuova Era» he has been attended the recording of the Quarto and Sesto libro de' madrigali a cinque voci by Claudio Monteverdi, performed by the «Solisti del madrigale» and for the SARX of Milan, the unabridged edition of the Motecta festorum totius anni (1563) by Giovanni Pierluigi da Palestrina, performed by the Collegium vocale «Nova Ars Cantandi». For the discographic company «Tactus» he has been attended the recording of the Vespri della Beata Vergine of Isabella Leonarda performed by the Collegium vocale «Nova Ars Cantandi».

- Performing Praxis of the Renaissance and Baroque Music (L) (E)

The performing of poliphonic music of Renaissance and Baroque period does not mean simply performing a purely musical act; on the contrary it means developing principally an intellectual, humanistic, aesthetic component that is an inherent part of the musical passage. In this passage vocal qualities are rooted in the poetic-musical weave, in which two arts forms (poetic and music) are complementary indivisible.

YOICHI ADACHI (Japan) • He studied a piano at Musashino Academia Musicae. After that he studied choral conducting at Sweelinck Conservatorium van Amsterdam in Netherlands. He studied conducting with Daniel REUSS, choral conducting with Shin SEKIYA, Renaissance music with Paul van Nevel. He took part in summer seminar in Utrecht, Netherlands and performed closing concert in 96, 97. He took part in Choir Festival 99 with Tokyo Josei Choir, gave a gold prize. As a Conductor, ADACHI has been Tokyo Josei choir and Fontana di Musica and Parnassos Ensemble etc... As a guest conductor, he was Cappella Amsterdam. He is member of Japan Choral Director Association.

ANGELINI ANDREA (Italy) • Born in Bologna, Italy, Andrea Angelini began his piano studies as a child earning a Bachelor of Music at Ferrara's Frescobaldi Conservatory. Particularly interested in piano pedagogy, he studied with Rita Ferri and Alexander Lonquich. His interests led him to the choral field, and he earned a Bachelor studying Liturgical Music at Modena and at the International Art Academy in Rome with Fulvio Angius. He also studied organ at Pesaro's Conservatory of Music. He is the Artistic Director and Conductor of the professional group Musica Ficta Vocal Ensemble (www.ensemble.musicaficta.org) that frequently performs in important Festivals in Italy and abroad. He has been member of the Jury at many International Choir's Competitions. He frequently leads choral workshops in Italy and abroad. He is the artistic director and one of the tutors at the Rimini International Choral Workshop, where he teaches with Peter Phillips of the Tallis Scholars, (www.musicaficta.org/welcome.html). Mr. Angelini is also the artistic director of the Rimini International Choral Competition, (www.riminichoral.it). He is the Chief Editor of FARCORO, the Choral Magazine of the Regional Choir Association and of the International Choral Bulletin (ICB), the membership magazine of the IFCM (International Federation for Choral Music). His transcription of Faure's Requiem is published by Gelber Hund Verlag of Berlin, who are also publishers of a book of repertoire for organ and violin, edited by Mr. Angelini. For the American CanticaNOVA Publication, he has prepared transcriptions of important Renaissance Motets.

Ottaviano Petrucci (18 June 1466 – 7 May 1539) was an Italian printer. Petrucci is credited with producing, in 1501, the first book of sheet music printed from movable type: Harmonice Musices Odhecaton, a collection of chansons. The innovative work in design, typography, and content of Ottaviano Petrucci became the standard by which all following printers measured themselves. He created the defining moment when Italy took the lead in book printing in the Renaissance.

Osim redovite nastave, glazbena nastava u osnovnoj školi (i u posebnim ustanovama) uključuje skupno muziciranje i izbornu nastavu izvannastavne aktivnosti – zbor, vokalne skupine, folklor, ples, raznovrsne glazbene projekte te posjete glazbenim priredbama. Posebnu pozornost zaslužuju ansamblji: zbor i mogući orkestri. Oni su, a ne nastava u razredu, prava mjesta aktivnoga muziciranja. INA u školi sastavni su dio školskog života svakog učenika. To je mjesto suživota, kreativnosti i stvaralaštva učenika. Program rada INA okviran je. INA su planirane, sadržajno programirane, subjektu primjerene te odgoju i obrazovanju subjekta namijenjene. Aktivnosti nisu propisane Nastavnim planom i programom, već ovisno o afinitetima učenika i učitelja te materijalnoj opremljenosti škole, učitelj osmišljava godišnji operativni plan i program za izvannastavne glazbene aktivnosti. Slobodan odabir aktivnosti omogućava učenicima veću angažiranost u njima jer rade upravo ono što vole. U INA učenici se uključuju dobrovoljno, prema vlastitom opredjeljenju i želji, upisuju se u rad glazbene grupe koja obuhvaća raznolike aktivnosti: od pjevanja, sviranja, glazbeno-scenskih prikaza i glazbeno-tehnoloških projektnih modela rada. Učenik je taj koji će svojim radom i aktivnošću, zalaganjem, samostalnošću doprinjeti kvaliteti programa i relevantnošću sadržaja. Rad u INA je slobodan, spontan, raznovrstan, dinamičan, polazi od interesa učenika, njihovih želja, sklonosti i nadarenosti. Cilj je ovog slobodnog pristupa rada u INA omogućiti otkrivanje i poboljšanje kreativnog i stvaralačkog glazbenog potencijala svakog učenika. Stupanj kreativnosti ovisi o glazbenoj aktivnosti koja se pred njega postavlja. U području glazbenog stvaralaštva senzibiliziramo djecu za umjetnost, razvijamo njihovu fantaziju, potičemo stvaralačko izražavanje, podržavamo njihovu sposobnost za izražavanjem, razvijamo dječji doživljaj te ih učimo biti osjetljivim na ljepotu. Djelujemo na njihovo zapažanje i pamćenje odnosno privikavamo ih na uočavanje glazbenih sastavnica koje će im pomoći u oblikovanju stručnog glazbenog dojma. Učenike koji polaze izvannastavnu aktivnost uključujemo u nastupe ili neke druge prigode gdje prezentiraju sadržaj i program koji su za vrijeme trajanja INA uvježbali i učili te demonstriraju koje su vještine i umijeća stekli.

THOMAS CAPLIN (Norway) (1960) • Professor in choral conducting and management. Mr Caplin received his education as a singer, conductor and choral pedagogue at the Royal Academy of Music in Copenhagen and at the Royal Academy of Music in Stockholm. He is frequently engaged as guest conductor and clinician, and as adjudicator in competitions in Norway and abroad. His publications include books on choral conducting in Sweden and Norway, as well as a number of compositions and arrangements and CD recordings. In 2004 he was awarded the recognition “Choral Director of the Year” by the Norwegian Choral Directors’ Association. He presently conducts two choirs: The Lund University Male Choir (prominent male choir from University of Lund, Sweden) and Chamber Choir Collegium Vocale (Norway). He led the Oslo University Male Choir to Olympic Champion in Xiamen, China 2006. Internationally he is in the steering committee for the IFCM mentor program “Conductors Without Borders”, and is currently involved in building up formalized choral conductor’s training in Indonesia. His present employment is Music Director for the Norwegian Choral Association. He is also on the Interkultur World Choir Council as the Norwegian representative.

RUDOLF DE BEER (South Africa) • Joined the Stellenbosch University's music department in 2006 and is currently senior lecturer in choral conducting, head of music education, artistic director of Schola Cantorum Stellenbosch, and conductor of the Mecer City of Tygerberg Choir. Amongst others he previously conducted the Drakensberg Boys' Choir, the National Youth Choir of South Africa, the Excelda National Chamber Choir (a project of Jeunesses Musicales South Africa), and the Choir of the Latvian Academy of Music on invitation in Riga. He studied at Potchefstroom University, while his Master's in choir conducting and musicology is from the University of Oslo. He completed his DMus through a joint venture between the Nelson Mandela Metropolitan University in Port Elizabeth and the Norwegian State Academy of Music in Oslo under his mentor, Kåre Hanken. As director of the 1st Stellenbosch University International Choral Conducting Symposium, he was local convenor of the IFCM's 4th Multi-Cultural Choral Conference, "Voices of South Africa" during April 2009. He regularly receives invitations as clinician to present workshops, lectures and masterclasses on African Choral Music – the focus of his research output for his DMus. Highlights in his conducting career include concerts for Nelson Mandela on his 85th birthday, the opening ceremony of the Commonwealth Congress in Durban in front of Queen Elizabeth II, and concerts with the major orchestras in South Africa.

LECTURE

- Merging Africa with the West: The Birth of African Neo-Choral Music (L) (E)

The so-called birth of African Choral Music can be traced back, like the western choral tradition, to religious activities, and especially to Christian missionary movements. Although group singing is and has been part of African indigenous music practices, choral singing, as understood in the western world, only emerged as a discipline in Africa after the Europeans invaded Africa. Daily African activities always included some form of musicking, and in many instances singing; lullabies, songs for war, drinking songs, dances at rituals, and many other musical reflections on society are included in this spectrum. Soon after missionarial efforts to transform all so-called pagan practices including 'christian' music on the 'dark continent', the African spirit bounced back by merging African and western elements, either through musical- or textual syncretism. Although African converts emerged as Christian composers, which spurred the surfacing of many compositions and arrangements, the spontaneous character of the African socio-cultural traditions was still the principle means through which music was carried over from generation to generation. Ethnomusicological efforts further prevented the extinction of many indigenous traditions and songs, which again opened a whole new range of possibilities to European-trained composers in Africa, and many choral works based on indigenous and traditional musical elements came to the fore. As part of research on choir improvisation, referred to as extemporisation, I explore the possibilities of completing a full circle in African music traditions by utilising African indigenous musical traditions and means of musicking as tool to extemporise on different indigenous and neo-traditional melodies. This will hopefully pave the way for new possibilities in the evolution of African choral traditions in Southern Africa, both as functional activity as well as art music.

WORKSHOP

- Teaching the 'Audience' to Extemporise on African Melodies Utilising African Indigenous Elements of Musicking (W) (E)

This presentation will again refer to the History, Development and Performance Practices of African Neo-Traditional Choral Music, practically engaging a new possibility in the performance of this music, through choral extemporization. Taking the participant from the embryo of the indigenous tune, through the missionarial influences of the first African converts and the first African compositions, exploring some party- or wedding songs as well as serious choral compositions influenced by African ideas – completing the full circle of re-introducing indigenous elements in the traditional choral culture through choral extemporisation. Scandinavian methods of choir “improvisation” served as basis for this part of the research.

MAURA FILIPPI (Croatia) • Diplomirala je talijanski i španjolski jezik i književnost na Filozofskom fakultetu Sveučilišta u Zagrebu, gdje je diplomirala temom „Libreta i libretisti Giacoma Puccinija“. Radila je u nacionalnim i internacionalnim školama stranih jezika te predavala na Sveučilištu Middlebury College (Vermont, SAD, 2005 i 2006). Završila je srednju muzičku školu te bila dugogodišnji član akademskog zбора Ivan Goran Kovačić te honorarni član zбора HRT-a, Baroknog ansambla te zбора HNK. Upisala je magisterij iz lingvistike, na talijanistici na Filozofskom Fakultetu u Zagrebu, tema magisterija je interdisciplinarna problematika libretistike. Od 2006 godine zaposlena je kao predavač na Muzičkoj Akademiji u Zagrebu na katedri za pjevanje.

• Strani jezici kao strukovni predmet u obrazovanju pjevača (L) (Cro)

Za zborškoga pjevača ili solista dobro poznavanje stranog jezika nije samo korisna komunikacijska vještina, već jedna od temeljnih i neizostavnih stručnih kompetencija. Pri tome bi pojam „poznavanje“ uključivao niz znanja i vještina, kojima pjevač mora ovladati, kako bi ispunio svoju primarnu zadaću- vokalno interpretirati glazbeno djelo, u ovom slučaju, na stranom jeziku. U prvom redu, kvalitetna interpretacija teksta na stranom jeziku svakako nužno prepostavlja sadržajno razumijevanje dočićnog teksta, što podrazumijeva usvajanje vokabulara određenog jezika, kao i gramatičkih zakonitosti unutar jezika. Pri tome valja imati na umu, da pojedina libreta ili solo-pjesme obiluju vokabularom, pa često i gramatičkim strukturama, koje ne spadaju u svakodnevni jezik. Nadalje, kako je glavni profesionalni žproizvod' pjevača ispjевani tekst upućen publici, pravilan izgovor pri vokalnoj interpretaciji od presudne je važnosti u pjevačkoj struci, jer površna dikcija utječe na razumijevanje sadržaja kod slušača, a istovremeno ne postoji mogućnost provjere i korekcije. Zadnji, ali nikako manje bitan element koji zaokružuje kvalitetnu vokalnu, a k tome i scensku interpretaciju jest poznavanje društvenih i političkih prilika razdoblja u kojem je djelo nastalo, a posebno književnih djela, koja su, kao odraz spomenutih prilika, često bila podlogom mnogih budućih glazbenih djela. Zbog svega navedenog podučavanje stranog jezika za pjevače sadržajem, metodama i opsegom značajno se razlikuje od uobičajenog podučavanja stranog jezika kao općenitog sredstva komunikacije, stoga ga u kontekstu obrazovanja pjevača treba promatrati kao stručni, a ne općeobrazovni predmet. Ovaj rad donosi prikaz najvažnijih značajki koje bi trebao obuhvatiti cijelovit program jezičnog obrazovanja pjevača, te predstavlja nekoliko stvarnih primjera takvog programa koji se provode u nastavi talijanskog i njemačkog jezika na Muzičkoj akademiji u Zagrebu.

• From the Repertoire of »Ars choralis« From Woodstock (NY) – a Case of an Unusual Political Engagement (L) (E)

From my pure terminological interests I began to look in various references for anything about "ars choralis". So I came to the American organization "Ars choralis", "a nonprofit organization dedicated to celebrating the human spirit through the performance of choral music of all periods and styles". At their Internet site (www.arschoralis.org) I found information about the program entitled Music in Desperate Times: Remembering The Women's Orchestra of Birkenau in which the artistic director of "Ars choralis", Barbara Pickhardt, tried to reconstruct the work of all-women's orchestra in the concentration camp Auschwitz-Birkenau which was for 18 months conducted by Alma Rosé, the niece of Gustav Mahler. Orchestra played popular pieces to German officers – Beethoven', symphonies, Puccini's arias, Chopin's and Strauss' waltzes. The women also had to play marches for emaciated, often sick prisoners as they struggled to walk to their forced labor jobs. This project of reconstruction of this bizarre case shows that the "celebration of human spirit" in inhuman times might degenerate in its pure degradation.

• Iz repertoara udruge »Ars choralis« iz Woodstocka (NY) – slučaj neuobičajenog političkog angažmana

Iz mojih pukih terminoloških interesa tražio sam po priručnicima bilo što o pojmu "ars choralis" pa sam tako došao do američkoga udruženja pod tim naslovom, do "neprofitne organizacije koja se posvetila slavljenju ljudskoga duha izvedbama zborske glazbe svih razdoblja i stilova". Na njihovoj internetskoj stranici www.arschoralis.org pronašao sam podatak o programu pod naslovom Glazba u očajničkim vremenima: sjećanje na ženski orkestar u Birkenau u kojem je njihova umjetnička direktorica, Barbara Pickhardt, pokušala rekonstruirati djelatnost ženskoga orkestra u koncentracionome logoru u Auschwitzu-Birkenauu što ga je punih 18 mjeseci vodila Alma Rosé, nečakinja

Gustava Mahlera. Orkestar je svirao njemačkim časnicima popularne komade – Beethovenove simfonije, Puccinieve arije, Chopinove i Straussove valcere. Također su morali svirati i koračnice za iscrpljene i često bolesne zatočenike koji su s velikom mukom odlazili na prisilni rad. Projekt rekonstrukcije ovog bizarnog slučaja pokazuje kako se „slavljenje ljudskoga duha“ u nehumanim vremenima može izrodit u čistu njegovu degradaciju.

BARIS GURKAN (Turkey) (1980) • UNDERGRADUATE: Ege University, Traditional Turkish Music State Conservatory, Turkish Folk Music Department; MASTER: Ege University, Audio Design Program, Ethnomusicology; OFFICIAL DUTY: As a Lecturer in Traditional Turkish Music Department of Dilek Sabanci State Conservatory in Selcuk University; NOTES: I have studied ethnomusicology with Prof. Dr. Yetkin Ozer and Prof. Dr. Ahmet Yurur for four years. I am as an ethnomusicology student, have a professional curiosity about relation between ‘religion and music’. I have been studying Yoruba origin religion Santeria and Bata drum tradition in Cuba, for two years.

• Bata Drum as a Pre-Eminent Sacred Instrument in Orisha Worship and Religious Music of Santeria in Cuba (L) (E)

Santeria, known also as Lucumi or ‘Regla de Ocha’ (Rules of Ocha), is an Afro-Cuban syncretic religion which includes elements from Yoruba Orisha worship and Catholicism in Cuba. Lucumi society is known the descendants of Yoruba people who are living in contemporary geographical areas of southwestern Nigeria and the southeastern portion of the Republic of Benin. Yoruba people lived under the control of one of the strongest West African kingdoms, Oyo Empire which its capital was the spiritual center of Orisha worship. In the first half of nineteenth century, Cuba produced an important part of (one of the third) sugar demand of the world, for this reason there were in large quantities requirement for labour in this period. This period also has witnessed the collapse of Oyo Empire. Thousands of Yoruba people brought their beliefs and cultures to Cuba, as slave, until prohibition of slave trade. Along with the impacts of historical and political developments on their livess, New World included reinterpretation process of cultural components and religious traditions. Through reinterpretation process, for example, has not changed the fundamentals of Orisha worship but structure that consist of regional particular orisha system, has incorporated under a frame. In Yorubaland, the fact that every city has own orisha and the other application that every orisha has own drum set has changed in Cuba, and in contemporary Cuba, the principle instrument of Orisha Worship is báta drum set. At the same time, repertoires of the other Yoruba origin drums has incorporated in báta drum repertoire. The reasons of to be admitted báta as the preeminent drum set in Cuba may be based on three main situations: Firstly, the task of báta drum, as a talking drum, is transmission more than musical performance. The capability of a drum set to provide well communication between gods and worshippers in Orisha worship depends on sufficiency of reproduce the tones of Yoruba words. Báta drum set that consist of three distinct sized body and has six distinct head to produce sound, is the most sufficient while imitating vowels and consonants among all of Yoruba origin drums. Moreover, the belief that báttá drums talk the speeches of gods, demonstrates the significance of talking drum aspect of báttá drums. Secondly, interventions of non-African researchers and state politics have influences upon ascendent role of báttá drum in Cuba. The researches of Fernando Ortiz who is a well known ethnomusicologist and scholar of Afro-Cuban culture, has significant role to regulation of Áyán cult and to increase the importance of báttá drums for worshippers in Cuba. Likewise the effect of AfroCubanism movement which started in 1920s and 1930s, must to take into consideration. The last one is, maybe the most effective one, the spiritual meaning and historical significance of báttá drum. In Yoruba mythology, there is a belief that báttá drum sets was created by Shango who is a deified King of Oyo Empire after, he died, by Orisha worshipper. Additionally, báttá drum was a symbol of strength and spiritual features of Oyo Empire. An other myth says that báttá drums also belong, one of the biggest orisha (bigger and older than Shango) in Yoruba cosmology, Orisha Čsù who has existed since the beginning of time. This belief provides a link between kings of Oyo and supreme god. To hear báttá sound could recall the domination of Oyo Empire and spiritual strength of Yoruba faith in Cuba, just as in Yorubaland.

CHRISTIAN HERBST (Austria) • Born 1970, started his musical career in 1976 as a member of the Salzburg Cathedral Boys Choir. After earning a degree in classical vocal pedagogy at the University Mozarteum Salzburg, he worked several years as a voice coach for the Salzburg Cathedral Boys Choir and as a teacher for choral voice pedagogy at the federal music school of Salzburg. In 2006, he accepted a position as voice coach, deputy choir conductor and scientific consultant for the Tölzer Knabenchor, Munich/Germany. Since 2009, Christian Herbst works at the Laboratory of Bio-Acoustics, Department of Cognition, University of Vienna. The main focus of Christian Herbst's scientific work is on the physiology of the singing voice. In particular, he published several papers on laryngeal configurations and electroglottography. He is currently enrolled as a doctoral student at the Laboratory of Biophysics of the University of Olomouc, Czech Republic, writing his dissertation on "Biophysics of the Singing Voice". As a guest researcher, Christian Herbst visited the Center for Computer Research in Music and Acoustics at the Stanford University, the Department for Speech, Music and Hearing (TMH) at the KTH in Stockholm, and the Groningen Voice Research Lab. • Pedagogical and Medical Co-Operation in Voice Patient Care (W) (E)
(with Josef Schlömicher-Thier)

In voice patient care, we are approached by two types of clients: those who want to „be able to sing again“ and those who want to „be able to sing better“. In both cases, the underlying predicament has several aspects: emotional, life-style related, medical, pedagogical. Since those aspects are often related to each other, a multi-dimensional approach for treating the patient is required. In this presentation, several boundary conditions for a “good” voice are established. To illustrate the effects of medical and pedagogical measures, we show case studies from our regular work with voice patients.

- Vocal Folds Adduction and Registers in Classical Singing (L) (E)

Register control in singing is physiologically achieved mostly by the vocalis muscle (membranous adduction). On the other hand, the degree of adduction of the posterior part of the glottis (cartilaginous adduction, regulated by laryngeal adductory muscles PCA and IA) is known to have an influence on the “richness” of the vocal sound source. In a recent study it has been shown, that both trained and untrained singers can independently vary those two types of laryngeal adjustment. The independent control over cartilaginous and membranous adduction allows singers to create different vocal timbres at the laryngeal level. In singing pedagogy, this knowledge can be used to effectively address certain technical problems, such as running out of breath, or register violations.

- Voice Timbre in Singing (L) (E)

Timbre, known in psychoacoustics as tone quality or tone color, distinguishes different types of sound production. In singing, timbre is influenced by vowel quality, amount of high-frequency energy components (“overtones”, singers’ formant) and the noise level (degree of breathiness). Those sound qualities are mainly controlled by two physiologic means: adjustments of the vocal tract and adjustments of the sound source, i.e. the laryngeal configuration.

Joy HILL (United Kingdom) • British conductor Joy Hill directs the Royal College of Music Junior Department Chamber Choir, Girls’ Choir and the alumni RCMJD Chamber Choir Vigala Singers. She currently teaches academic music at the Purcell School where she conducts the Purcell Chamber Choir, and is known for her commitment to ‘giving new music a chance’, actively promoting performances of music by young student composers as well as high profile contemporary composers. Originally a first-study pianist studying with Eric Parkin and Christopher Elton Joy won the Vancouver Chamber Choir scholarship to study conducting with Jon Washburn in Canada and was awarded a Churchill Fellowship for the study of choral conducting in Sweden. She has worked as conductor and adjudicator in Australia, Japan, Canada, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania (sponsored by the Arts Council of Great Britain), Italy, South Africa and Uganda. Formerly Senior Lecturer in Music and Music Education, University of Surrey Roehampton and the Institute of Education, London University, she is increasingly involved in projects that bring different cultures together through choral music. Her RCMJD Chamber Choir have performed with the African Children's Choir in Westminster Abbey in the presence of Her Majesty the Queen, with The Riga Chamber Choir and with the Estonian T.V. Choir. She has recently launched New Commonwealth Voices for the Royal Commonwealth Society in London: a choir whose members represent the 53 member countries of the Commonwealth.

IRENA HOČEVAR-BOLTEŽAR (Slovenia) • Born in Ljubljana. After finishing Medical Faculty at University of Ljubljana she was working as a general practitioner and a junior research fellow at the Institut of Oncology in Ljubljana. Since 1987 she has been employed at the University Medical Center Ljubljana, Department of Otorhinolaryngology and Head & Neck Surgery. In 1993 she finished her training in otorhinolaryngology and started working also as a teaching assistant at Medical Faculty, University of Ljubljana. In 1997 she became the head of Phoniatric Service at the University Medical Center Ljubljana, Department of Otorhinolaryngology and Head & Neck Surgery. In 1991 she obtained her M Sc degree and in 1998 her Ph D degree in otorhinolaryngology. In 1999 she became an assistant professor and in 2006 an associated professor for otorhinolaryngology at Medical Faculty in Ljubljana. Since 2003 she is lecturing "Anatomy, physiology and pathology of voice" for speech and language pathology students at the Pedagogic Faculty, University of Ljubljana. Her present field of interest is pathology of voice, speech and swallowing, especially neurologic speech and voice problems and rehabilitation after treatment for head and neck cancer. She is a current president of Slovenian Otorhinolaryngological Association, a member of Slovenian Medical Society, European Laryngological Society (ELS), and International Association of Logopedics and Phoniatrics (IALP).

• Gastroesophageal Reflux in Singers (L) (E)

Assoc. Prof. Irena Hočvar-Boltežar, MD, PhD

University Department of Otorhinolaryngology and Head & Neck Surgery Ljubljana,

Background. The backflow of gastric content into the oesophagus is termed gastroesophageal reflux (GER). GER that travels proximally and penetrates the upper esophageal sphincter to enter the laryngopharynx is called extraoesophageal or laryngopharyngeal reflux (LPR). The typical symptoms of GER disease are heartburn and acid regurgitation. LPR often results in atypical manifestations chronic hoarseness, chronic cough, sore throat, globus sensation, dysphagia, buccal burning, breathing problems, nocturnal choking and dental diseases. In GER patients the occurrence of extraoesophageal symptoms is as high as 67%. It is estimated that as many as 10% of the patients that are referred to an ENT specialist have symptoms and signs that might be attributed to GER. There are also many patients with voice disorders who have LPR as the main or one of the important reasons for their dysphonia. According to the data from the Phoniatric Service in Ljubljana, among patients with voice disorders, 35% have typical symptoms of GER, 51% have symptoms of LPR and 56% show laryngological signs of LPR. GER is influenced by life style, eating habits and also by the patient's occupation. An occupational-related susceptibility of professional singers to experience GER and LPR has been suggested. There were several studies investigating the prevalence of LPR in professional singers and other professions. They demonstrated higher prevalence of GER and LPR in professional opera choristers than in population with other occupations.

Conclusions: In every professional singer with typical or atypical manifestations of GER a detailed diagnostic procedure must be performed in order to find all unfavourable factors that influence voice quality. Because of multifactorial cause for LPR in a professional singer, a team of professionals must be involved in the treatment of his/her voice disorders. However, the singer himself/herself must be also very active in the treatment procedure.

WERNER JAUK (Austria) (1953) • Musicologist/psychologist, scientific media-artist Professor at the KF-University in Graz/Austria working on „pop / music + media / art“ with the focus on music as a role model for the (theory of) media arts. Studies in perception, cybernetics and experimental aesthetics led him try to bridge a gap between science and arts: both follow epistemological interests working on adaptation of bodily life in dynamized and coded non-mechanistic realities and on interfaces to these virtual and mixed realities based on auditory logic and hedonistic behavior formalized in pop/music. There are a lot of scientific papers in int. journals/books and installations on media-art-festivals. He took part in various international congresses of science and the arts; as a scientific artist he made interactive compositions, installations in the public space and net-art-projects on international festivals of electronic-/computer-/media - arts exploring the auditory logic as an interface to virtual and mixed realities.

• The Voice/s – an Immediate „Medium“... (L) (E)

Music may be considered being the instrumentarization / mediatization of the emotional expression – while expressive behavior needs instruments to produce sounds, to make music, feelings are immediately expressed by modulations of the timbre of the voice. As a signal this expression is directly communicative, even in musical contexts – before using signs. The avantgardes of the 20th. century brought more and more a shift to a body-based culture. Pop ist the avantgarde of the body-culture as every-day-culture – both avantgardes refer to the immediately communicating qualities of the voice. E.g.: The „inner voice“ of Meredith Monk „is an eloquent language in and of itself“ ... the „kleine Stimme“ of Nico immerses because of it's closeness to self-perception ... The (late) greek tragedy uses this intuitive emotional affecting of voices. The multiplication of this process leads to the emotionalization of the information transfer. The voice/s (of the crowd), the choir, become the medium between the acting agents and the public adding emotional appeal. In our days the greek tragedy became the mass-media – as mass-media the choir is based on the emotional „Geiste der Musik“. These hypotheses will be argued on the basis of experimental studies of music and psychology and media-theories – samples of aesthetic positions will be given.

• Group Vocalization in Turkish Religious Music and the Study of a Mevlevi Ritual (L) (E)

The first known examples of Turkish Music in history go back to the Shaman-Minstrel Music. It is known that this form of music bears primarily religious, magical and ceremonial characteristics. Religious Turkish Music progressed through a number of phases after the acceptance of Islam by the Turks; various forms of religious music have reached our day both through the engagement of Turkish and Islamic cultures and the development of Turkish Music in terms of sound system and form (configuration-type). Turkish Religious Music can be examined in two groups as mosque music and dervish lodge music. In the religion of Islam, the daily obligatory salaah prayers can be performed at the mosque or also at another place outside the mosque. The religious music which is performed during the prayers in the mosque is entirely acapella (unaccompanied) music. There are not any instruments used in this form. The types that fall within the mosque music can be listed as adhan, eqamah, tardiyah, takbeer, hamdiyah, shugul, qasidah, naat, munacaat, mahfel surmesi, temcid, marsiyah, mirajiiyah, mawleed, hymn and salawaat. Among these types, hymns, takbeers and salawaats are voiced chorally by groups. In Turkish-Islamic culture, dervish lodges acted as places where not only daily obligatory salaah prayers but also other divine services, dhikr, and conversations of daily life were performed until 1925. Unlike mosque music, accompanying musical instruments were used in dervish lodge music. In Turkish-Islamic culture, religious sects such as Mawlawi, Bektashi, Gulsheni and Qadiri Orders attached more importance to music and made use of music in accordance with their philosophies within their orders. Sultan Walad, the son of Mawlana Jalal Al-Din Rumi, and his grandson, Ulu Arif Chalabi systematized Mawlana's mystic ideas and form of worship (sema) on the basis of love and tolerance. Mawlawi sema rituals which are performed in Mawlawi lodges and convents are among the most significant forms of Turkish Music (religious and unreligious) for their length and classical music characteristics. A Mawlawi ritual is composed of seven parts. Although each part represents an idea within itself, the ritual is performed by the mutrib group (instruments and chorist group) and the sema group together. In the present study, firstly, it will be mentioned through what forms group vocalization is performed and what the forms of performance are in religious Turkish Music. Secondly, the structural and musical analysis of Mawlawi rituals which present the characteristics of classical music in the area of religious music will be performed and also the form of performance of the chorist (ayinhans) group will be discussed. Besides the use of the literature review model, sound and image recordings will also be used in the study.

Since then she has combined her career as a performer with her career as a researcher. In 2001, she finished her MMus in performance at the University of Sheffield, and at Guildhall School of Music and Drama in London. Through the past years, Filipa has performed in several singing recitals, oratorio and opera roles in Portugal, Spain, Australia and in the U.K. gaining much appreciation in reviews. In 2002 she was awarded a PhD grant and in 2007 a Post-Doctoral grant, both from the Minister of Science and Technology in Portugal. In her PhD studies she investigated the effects of the sexual hormones on aspects of voice production in female opera singers. Since then, she has presented her research work at several international conferences, gaining two Young Researcher's Award from the "Society for Education, Music and Psychology Research" (2005), and by the "European Society for the Cognitive Sciences of Music", (2007). Currently she is further developing her research in the field of voice at National Institute of Ethnomusicology, music and dance (INET-MD), and she is a lecturer at the Department of Communication and Arts at Aveiro University.

• Sex Steroid Hormones an Intonation Accuracy in Singing (L) (E)

Filipa M. B. Lá, Department of Communication and Arts, INET-MD, University of Aveiro, Portugal

Johan Sundberg, Department of Speech, Music and Hearing, School of Computer Science and Communication, KTH, Stockholm, Sweden

Cyclical variations in the concentrations of sex steroid hormones (i.e. oestrogens, progesterone and testosterone) associated with menstrual cycle have been reported to affect the pattern of vibration of the vocal folds. We present a double blind randomised placebo controlled trial on the effects of the menstrual cycle and the use of a combined oral contraceptive pill (OCP) on intonation accuracy during singing. Three recordings were made and three blood samples were taken for 9 subjects for the three phases of the menstrual cycle (i.e. menstrual, follicular and luteal phases), for both placebo and OCP conditions randomly allocated. Participants were asked to sing an ascending octave followed by a descending major triad, and blood samples measured concentrations of sex steroid hormones. The intonation accuracy was measured as the departure from the equally tempered tuning, using the start tone as the reference. On average, the ascending octave exceeded a 2:1 frequency ratio by about 40 cents for both conditions (i.e. placebo and OCP). The subsequent descending intervals were all wider than in equally tempered tuning, thus leading to a lower pitch of the final tone as compared with the starting tone. Results indicated that for the placebo condition, (i.e. when sex steroid hormonal vary greatly), intonation accuracy was greater in the menstrual phase (i.e. phase 1) than for the follicular and luteal phases (i.e. phases 2 and 3). For the OCP condition of the study (i.e. when hormonal variations were minor), the variation of intonation accuracy was smaller. These results thus suggest that intonation accuracy may vary during the menstrual cycle.

Zanimanje za mjesto ili mesta u mozgu odakle se nadziru i gdje se prikupljaju podaci o pojedinim ljudskim aktivnostima postoji već stoljećima. Od najranijih proučavanja koja su se u nedostatku boljih metoda zasnivala na posrednom zaključivanju o mozgovnim funkcijama na temelju ozljeda, do suvremenih sofisticiranih neinvazivnih tehnika prikaza rada mozga pri različitim zadacima znanstvenici su prošli dalek put i neizmjerno povećali količinu znanja o mozgu i njegovom funkciranju. Unatoč tome još uvek ima mnogo nepoznanica o mozgovnoj aktivnosti u specifičnim situacijama i zadacima. U radu se govori o neurofiziološkoj podlozi glazbenih aktivnosti. Nakon kratkog pregleda mozgovne reprezentacije motoričkih, senzoričkih i kognitivnih funkcija usredotočuje se na vezu između proizvodnje i percepcije glazbe i mozgovne aktivnosti. U tom svjetlu uspoređuju se profesionalni glazbenici i laici, različiti aspekti glazbene djelatnosti, efekti učenja i vježbe kao i posljedice mozgovnih ozljeda. Posebice se uspoređuju slušanje i govorno-jezična obrada s jedne strane i glazbena s druge.

• Music in the Brain

Interest in the locations in the brain that control and collect information about human activities has existed for centuries. From the earliest case studies that, for lack of better methods, relied on indirect evidence about cerebral activities as consequences of injuries, to the modern sophisticated noninvasive techniques of brain imaging during various tasks, the sciences have come a long way increasing the body of knowledge about the brain and its functioning. In spite of that, there are still many unknowns about cerebral activity in specific tasks and situations. In this paper the neurophysiological basis of music activities is discussed. After a brief overview of cerebral representation of motor, sensory and cognitive functions the paper focuses on the relationship between production and perception of music and cerebral activity. It addresses the differences between professional musicians and non-professionals, various aspects of music, learning and practice effects, and consequences of brain lesions. In particular, it compares listening, and speech and language processing with music.

- Neke natuknice o stanju istraživanja hrvatskoga zborskoga stvaralaštva s obzirom na radove objavljene u časopisu Arti musices (1969. – 2009.)
Prinos istraživanju hrvatske glazbene historiografije u 20. stoljeću (L) (Cro)

Opsežnost pisane građe o zborskoj glazbi, što je nastajala iz pera brojnih autora tijekom 20. stoljeća do u naše doba, a osobito raznovrsnost i raspršenost izvora o toj i srođnoj tematiči, navela nas je u ovoj prigodi na proučavanje pisane riječi o (hrvatskom) zborskem stvaralaštvu u radovima objavljenima u prvome hrvatskom muzikološkom časopisu Arti musices između 1969. i 2009. godine. Riječ je o tekstovima u kojima se eksplicite i/ili implicite pristupalo spomenutoj temi s različitim aspekata: sagledavanjem vokalnoga (zborskoga) opusa pojedinih hrvatskih glazbenika starijega i novijega doba, potom analitičkim prikazima manjega, pa i pojedinačnoga njegova dijela, a u nekim su člancima sastavnim dijelom bili i popisi skladbi određenih autora prema vrstama, među njima i onih za vokalne (zborske) sastave. Lako su dakle polazištem u proučavanju stanja istraživanja o hrvatskom zborskem stvaralaštvu u pisanoj riječi znanstvenika poslužili tekstovi objavljeni u Arti musices, mjestimice su se, kao mogući izvori, naznačili i poneki članci objavljeni u drugim časopisima (glazbene i šire kulturološke provenijencije), odnosno članci u zbornicima radova sa znanstvenih skupova, u kojima se o temi zborske glazbe promišljalo u raznim njezinim pojavnostima. U 40 godišta/svezaka časopisa Arti musices, što su izlazili kao godišnjaci, polugodišnjaci i dvobroji, u ukupno 63 broja, objavljeno je 46 članaka koji su se znatnije dotakli spomenute teme; među njima je 38 izvornih znanstvenih radova s raznovrsnim – izravnim i posrednim – temama o zborskoj glazbi, te 8 ostalih članaka (među njima: otkrića, građe, izvješća, preglednoga članka i referata). Unutar prve, brojnije, i za muzikološku znanost relevantnije skupine izvornih znanstvenih radova, stanovit je broj onih u kojima je tematika zborske glazbe bila obradena izravno (16 članaka), s jedne strane, odnosno posredno ili neizravno (22 članka), s druge strane. No, i u potonjima, nešto brojnijim radovima, mogli su se naći također značajni (historiografski, analitički, faktografski) podatci vezani uz zborskiju glazbu, ne samo hrvatskih skladatelja, već i stranih glazbenika koji su svoj opus stvarali (i) na hrvatskom tlu, pa su tako svojim djelom i djelovanjem pridonijeli cijelovitom razvoju hrvatske (glazbene) kulture.

IVAN PAVIŠIĆ (Croatia) • Rođen u Zagrebu 1950. godine, odrastao u Hrvatskoj Kostajnici. Profesionalno se bavi glazbom, kako instrumentalnom tako i vokalnom. Ponajprije pjesmom iz različitih krajeva Hrvatske: istarske, slavonske, dalmatinske, podravske kao i pjesmom naroda iz bližeg okruženja što se najprije odnosi na bosansku staru sevdalinsku i sazlijsku pjesmu. Ljubav prema pjesmi proširio je u Zagrebu u zboru Joža Vlahović gdje upotpunjuje svoje opredjeljenje i sklonost prema zborskome pjevanju što ga je odvelo u operne vode gdje dobiva dijelom svoju pjevačku kakvoću potvrđuje u mnogobrojnim oprenim tenorskim ulogama iz popularnih opera. Nakon karijere u Beogradskoj Operi, nastavlja svoje profesionalno i amatersko djelovanje, kako u zboru kazališta "Komedija" tako i u klubu za nacionalnu manjinu Bošnjaka u Zagrebu. Četrdesetak godina zborskog, pjevačkog staža i pjevačkog iskustva želi prenijeti na mlađe naraštaje, naročito one koje zanima tehnika jednostavnog pjevanja sevdalinki i vrijedne pjesme.

• Stilistika sevdaha (W) (Cro)

BOJAN POGRMILOVIĆ (Croatia) • Dirigent, solo pjevač i vokalni pedagog. Diplomirao je solo pjevanje na Muzičkoj akademiji u Zagrebu. Deset godina bio je glazbeni voditelj Ansambla narodnih plesova i pjesama Hrvatske "Lado", a sada predaje solo pjevanje na Glazbenoj školi Vatroslava Lisinskog. Kao voditelj dalmatinskih klapa "Mareta" i "Cesarice" osvojio je brojne nagrade na Festivalu dalmatinskih klapa u Omišu i Međunarodnom festivalu zborova u Veroni, a njegovi učenici solo pjevanja osvajali su nagrade na domaćim i međunarodnim natjecanjima. Član je žirija domaćih i međunarodnih natjecanja zborova (Verona, Azzano Decimo). Umjetnički je ravnatelj dvaju Festivala (Natjecanje zborova u Azzanu Decimu i Festival Klape „Školjka“ u Pakoštanim), a dvije godine ravnao je i mješovitim pjevačkim zborom iz Verone sastavljenim od članova 15 zborova Udruženja zaborava Grada (AGC Verona). Od 1988. vodi mješoviti pjevački zbor KUD-a INA, koji je pod njegovim ravnateljstvom dosegnuo sadašnju visoku razinu. Od 2003. vodi Vokalni ansambl "Samoborke". Ravnao je i gudačkim orkestrom iz Českog Krumlova, Hrvatskim komornim orkestrom, te Zagrebačkom filharmonijom. Kao solist i sa svim svojim ansamblima snimio je tridesetak nosača zvuka. Predsjednik je Hrvatske udruge vokalnih pedagoga i dopredsjednik Hrvatske udruge zborovođa.

BOJAN POGRMILOVIĆ is a conductor, a solo singer and a voice teacher. He graduated solo singing at the Music Academy of the University of Zagreb. For ten years he was the music director of Lado, the National folk dance ensemble of Croatia, and now he teaches solo singing at Vatroslav Lisinski Music School. As the director of a cappella ensembles (Dalmatian klapa) Mareta and Cesarice, he has won numerous awards at the Festival of Dalmatian Klapa in Omiš and the Verona Choir Competition, and his students have also won many awards at local and international competitions. He is one of the judges at several local and international choir competitions (Verona, Azzano Decimo). He is the artistic director of two festivals (Choir competition at Azzano Decimo, and Seashell, Dalmatian Klapa Festival in Pakoštane) and for two years he conducted the Mixed choir of Verona, made up of singers belonging to 15 choirs of The Association of the Choral Groups of Verona (AGC Verona). Since 1998, he has directed INA mixed choir, bringing it to its current high level of quality. Since 2003, he has also directed Vocal ensemble Samoborke. His career as a conductor also includes working with the String Orchestra from Krumlov in the Czech Republic, Croatian Chamber Orchestra and the Zagreb Philharmonic Orchestra. As a solo artist, and together with his various ensembles, he has recorded around 30 albums. He is the president of the Croatian Voice Teachers Association and the vice president of the Croatian Choral Directors Association.

• Dva moguća puta u određenju zvuka vokalnoga tijela (L) (Cro-E)

U suvremenoj zborskoj glazbi prevladava zvuk koji je posljedica nordijske škole i nordijskog pristupa zborskoj glazbi. Treba li to biti obrazac za sve stилove i sve vokalne pristupe? Treba li jedno vokalno tijelo za različita djela zvučati uvijek jednako ili se vokalno treba prilagodavati svakom pojedinom izrazu? Odgovori svakako nisu jednoznačni, a rješenja nisu jednostavna. Je li uopće potrebno i moguće naučiti pjevače da se kameleonski prilagodavaju različitim vokalnim izrazima ili je bolje da budu savršeni u onom izrazu u kojem se najbolje osjećaju?

• Two Possible Ways of Defining the Sound of a Vocal Group

The sound that prevails in contemporary choral music comes as a result of the Nordic school and Nordic approach to choral singing. Should this be the pattern for all styles and vocal approaches? Should a vocal group sound the same no matter what piece of music it performs or should it adapt to different vocal expressions? There are no straightforward answers and simple solutions, so is it really necessary, or even possible, to teach singers to adapt, like chameleons, to different vocal expressions, or is it better for them to pursue excellence in the form of singing that suits them best?

SNEŽANA PONOŠ (Croatia) • Diplomirana muzikologinja i profesorica povijesti glazbe, rođena je Vukovaru. Od dolaska na studij 1982. godine živi i radi u Zagrebu. Tijekom 1987. i 1988. godine kao vanjski suradnik autorski uređuje emisije ciklusa "Iz glazbenih arhiva" III. programa hrvatskog radija. Pedagoškim radom bavi se od 1987. godine kao profesor glazbene umjetnosti na nekoliko zagrebačkih srednjih škola. Od 1993. godine stalno je zaposlena u XVI. gimnaziji u Zagrebu kao profesor i zborovođa. Predavačica je povijesti zborske glazbe na Školi za zborovođe pri Vokalnoj akademiji u Zagrebu. Zborskim dirigiranjem Snežana Ponoš bavi se od 2003. godine. Započinje kao autodidakt, a potom uči na seminarima u organizaciji Ministarstva znanosti, obrazovanja i športa Republike Hrvatske, Agencije za odgoj i obrazovanje i Centra za kulturu Trešnjevka. Godine 2007. završava Školu za zborovođe pri Vokalnoj akademiji u Zagrebu. Godine 2004. i 2006. s Djevojačkim zborom XVI. gimnazije sudjeluje na međunarodnom natjecanju Europees Muziekfestival voor de Jeugd (Neerpelt, Belgija) i osvaja prve nagrade. Na Glazbenim svečanostima hrvatske mladeži u Varaždinu 2004., 2006. i 2007. godine osvaja Zlatne plakete kao i posebnu nagradu Hrvatskog društva skladatelja za najbolje izvedenu zadalu skladbu hrvatskog autora (2007. godine) S istim zborom na međunarodnom natjecanju Slovakia Cantat održanom u Bratislavi 2007. godine osvaja drugu nagradu za zborski nastup i posebnu nagradu za najboljeg dirigenta natjecanja. Godine 2007. osniva djevojački zbor Cantus ante omnia s kojim osvaja jednu prvu međunarodnu nagradu (Europees Muziekfestival voor de Jeugd, Neerpelt 2008.) i dvije prve nagrade na varaždinskim Glazbenim svečanostima hrvatske mladeži (2008. i 2009. godine), kao i posebnu nagradu Marijan Zuber za najbolji umjetnički dojam na 52. glazbenim svečanostima hrvatske mladeži (2009.). Na II. međunarodnom natjecanju Lipanjski zvuci održanom u Petrinji 2009. godine sa zborom Cantus ante omnia osvaja Zlatni lipin cvijet. Istom prigodom dirigentica Snežana Ponoš promovirana je u Maestru mentoricu Hrvatske udruge zborovođa.

• Sergije Rainis – život i djelo (L) (Cro-E)

Sergije Rainis – Life and Work

Sergije Rainis bio je jedan od najznačajnijih hrvatskih zborovođa, pjevača i pjevačkih pedagoga. Postigao je vrlo značajne međunarodne uspjehe. Jedan je od osnivača Hrvatskoga radiozpora i njegov dugogodišnji dirigent. Na poziv svjetski poznatoga čeliste Pablo Casalsa došao je u Puerto Rico gdje je punih dvadeset godina djelovao kao profesor pjevanja i zborovskoga dirigiranja. Suradivao je s najvećim glazbenim imenima (P. Domingo, Zubin Mehta i drugi).

MR. SC. BRANKO PUCEKOVIC (Croatia) • Po struci geodet, glazbom se bavi od djetinjstva. Svirao krilnicu u limenoj glazbi više od 20 godina. Višegodišnji je orguljaš i zborovođa u župi Vukovina kod Velike Gorice. Dirigent je župnog zbara „Sv. Cecilija“ i HPD „Kučani“ iz Kuča. Školovao se na Institutu za crkvenu glazbu „Albe Vidaković“ i diplomirao na Školi za zborovođe pri Vokalnoj akademiji.

• Prosvjetitelj Franjo pl. Lučić (1889.- 1972.) – Glazbenik, župan
i Zmaj Turopoljski (L) (Cro)

Javnosti je Lučić poznat kao glazbenik; manje poznato je njegovo djelovanje kao župana Plemenite općine turopoljske (POT), kao orguljaša židovskog hrama i kao Meštra zabave i glazbe u Družbi Braće Hrvatskog Zmaja. U ovom predavanju će stoga najviše prostora bit posvećeno o manje poznatim aktivnostima Franje pl. Lučića kao župana POT-e i kao člana Viteškog reda Hrvatskog Zmaja. Rođen je prije 121 godine 31. ožujka. Kao šestogodišnjak ostao je bez oca pa ga majka šalje k svome bratu Josipu pl. Pučekoviću na odgoj i školovanje. U najranijem djetinjstvu pokazao je izvanrednu nadarenost za glazbu. Na nagovor svog profesora glazbe Vilka Novaka napušta u trećem razredu učiteljsku školu i posvećuje se glazbenom obrazovanju. Naknadno završava učiteljsku školu i 1917. godine dobiva prvo namještenje kao učitelj u Kotarima kraj Samobora. Ondje sklada svoju prvu simfoniju u f-molu. Na dan sv. Lucije 13. prosinca 1918. POT-a izabire ga za župana. Mandat mu je dvaput produljivan tako da je kao župan proveo devet punih godina. U tom se svojstvu posvetio prosvjeti, kulturi, gospodarstvu i sveopćem napretku Turopolja. Za njegova mandata otvoreno je nekoliko škola, te 15-ak čitaonica i knjižnica. Na njegov prijedlog podignuta je 1922. godine ciglana i donosila je turopoljskoj općini veliki prihod. Priznanici za njegov rad narod mu je dao time što ga je još dva puta birao za župana. Na vlastitu molbu imenovan je 1920. profesorom na Kraljevskoj muzičkoj školi iz teoretskih predmeta i orguljanja. Na Muzičkoj akademiji u Zagrebu proveo je punih 40 godina. Tu razvija svestranu pedagošku djelatnost kao profesor orgulja i polifone kompozicije. Punim zalaganjem Lučić sa svojim kolegama dograđuje suvremene osnove Muzičke akademije, pa po jednoj njegovoj ranijoj sugestiji i inicijativi imamo zahvaliti i osnivanje zasebnog odjela za povijest glazbe. Srodne pobude navode Lučića još prije da osnuje muzičku školu «Polihimnija» (1932. – 1941.) na kojoj su se učile i orgulje. To je zapravo bila prva orguljaška škola kod nas. Iskustvo koje je stjecao svojim pedagoškim radom sažeо je u udžbeniku «Polifona kompozicija». Knjiga je bila izložena u Beču 1956. i o njoj se rektor Münchenske akademije Karl Höller ovako izrazio: »Njemački narod bi se ponosio takvim djelom«. U svom muzičko-teoretskom djelu od blizu tisuću stranica (dvije zamašne knjige Kontrapunkt i Polifona kompozicija), Lučić je stvorio djelo koje je pravi kompedij osnovne kompozicijske discipline. Članom Družbe Braće Hrvatskog Zmaja Franjo pl. Lučić postaje 1919. godine utemeljiteljni član s matičnim brojem BHZ 270. 1927 izabran je za redovitog člana, a na glavnoj skupštini 1930. Izabran je u Meštarski zbor u časti Meštra zabave i glazbe. Od 1929. djeluje Lučić kao crkveni zborovoda i orguljaš kod svećanih misa Družbe. Godine 1931. proslavio je Lučić 25. godišnjicu svog muzičkog rada u Glazbenom zavodu. Povodom ovog jubileja održana je 11. ožujka proslava u prostorijama DBHZ. Veliki Meštar Emilio pl. Laszowski prvi je oslovio svečara ističući Lučićev kulturni rad kao Župana turopoljskog istaknuvši njegove velike zasluge kod uređenja i izdanja „Turopoljskih spomenika“. Družba mu je poklonila umjetnički izrađenu diplomu i dirigentski štapić sa srebenom drškom i srebenom lirom na vršku. Godine 1942. postaje članom Velikoga vijeća Viteškog reda Hrvatskog Zmaja, a prigodom 25. godišnjice članstva izabralo ga je i proglašilo Veliko vijeće na Jurjevo 1944. počasnim članom za velike zasluge stećene njegovim plodnim radom na muzičkom polju u korist naroda hrvatskog i Bratstva Hrvatskog Zmaja. Glazbenoj javnosti prof. Lučić poznat je po Elegiji u f-molu, Fantaziji u c-molu, po crkvenim skladbama O silni, jaki Bože i O Isuse izranjeni. Manje poznato je da je napisao Turopoljsku i Međimursku himnu, prvu simfoniju na ovim prostorima i na desetke solo pjesama, zborских i instrumentalnih kompozicija za orgulje, klavir i orkestar te obrade narodnih pjesama. Na glazbenom polju rada istaknuo se kao pedagog, skladatelj i orguljaš (jedno je vrijeme bio orguljaš u zagrebačkoj katedrali). Bio je aktivi član cecilijanskog pokreta i objavljivao svoje skladbe u časopisu Sv. Ceciliјa. E. Rapp: „Pisao je emocijom vjere, pedagoškog iskustva i znanjem umjetnika“. Nema niti jednog područja na kojem nije ostavio vidnog traga. Lik našega Franceka sjao je čovještvo; svakom je pomagao i svakog je podizao. Oni koji su s njim radili nikad ga nisu vidjeli neraspoloženog. Njegov cijelokupni opus potrebno je temeljito istražiti te kritički analizirati i vrednovati.

DAVORKA RADICA (Croatia) • Rođena je 1971. u Jajcu. Od 1990. studirala je na Muzičkoj akademiji Sveučilišta u Zagrebu; diplomirala je 1995. na Odsjeku za kompoziciju i glazbenu teoriju. Poslijediplomski znanstveni studij iz glazbene pedagogije završila je 2002. obranom magistarskog rada Udžbenici za solfeggio u Hrvatskoj od početka 20. stoljeća do danas. Početkom 1996. zaposlila se na istoj akademiji u Zagrebu i tri je godine radila kao mlađa asistentica. U prosincu 2006. na Muzičkoj akademiji u Zagrebu obranila je doktorsku disertaciju pod naslovom Ritamska komponenta u glazbi 20. stoljeća. Od 2001. predaje na Sveučilištu u Splitu, na Teorijskom odsjeku Umjetničke akademije, kolegije Solfeggio, Osnove harmonije i Aspekte glazbe 20. stoljeća. U svibnju 2008. izabrana je u znanstveno-nastavno zvanje docenta.

• Trois Chansons de Charles d'Orléans za zbor a cappella
ili 'tonsko slikanje' Claudea Debussyja (L) (Cro)

Skladba Trois Chansons C. A. Debussyja predstavlja ciklus od tri pjesme nastale na stihove francuskog pjesnika Charlesa d'Orléansa (1394-1465). Prva i treća pjesma nastale su u travnju 1898., međutim, ciklus je zaokružen drugom pjesmom tek u ljetu 1908. i jedina je a cappella skladba u bogatom opusu velikog francuskog skladatelja. Još u studentskim danima, za vrijeme boravka u Rimu, Debussy je u crkvici San Maria dell'Anima čuo izvođenje skladbi G. P. Palestrine i O. di Lassa koje su ga se izuzetno dojmile. U jednom je pismu (komentirajući rimske godine) napisao, kako su to bile 'jedine prilike kad su svi moji glazbeni osjećaji bili probudeni'. Skladba Trois Chansons za zbor a cappella, očita je posveta dvojici renesansnih velikana ostvarena suptilnim prožimanjem tipično renesansnih obilježja modusnog vokalnog četveroglasja s elementima osebujnog Debussyevog glazbenog jezika. Odmjenjivanja različitih harmonijsko-melodijsko-ritamskih ugodaja, koja pak slijede poetsko fraziranje u tekstovima pjesama, najbolje se mogu opisati kao „tonsko slikanje“. Ova sintagma, često korištena u opisima karakterističnih kontrastiranja pojedinih odsjeka u madrigalima 16. stoljeća, može imati i naivne konotacije naročito kad se radi o tzv. 'madrigalizmima'. U Debussyevim skladbama, međutim, ona ima posve drugačije značenje. Naime, za Debussya glazba 'nije izraz osjećaja, ona je osjećaj sam' i stalna potraga za neizrecivim. Iako se ovog skladatelja najčešće imenuje glavnim predstavnikom glazbenog impresionizma, sam Debussy, po svojim je estetskim načelima bio daleko bliži pjesnicima simbolistima nego slikarima impresionistima zbog čega specifičan tretman teksta i neglazbenih sadržaja u njegovoj glazbi ima posebno važnu ulogu. Očituje se to i u njegovoj težnji za glazbom koja više nagovještava nego što kazuje, smjerajući ka „čistoju“, gotovo nadosjetilnoj umjetnosti. Zanimljivo je da ove težnje skladatelj ostvaruje posve konkretnim i promišljenim glazbenim jezikom čije se glavne značajke mogu iščitati i u ovoj skladbi. Redefiniranje značenja svih glazbenih komponenti u odnosu na funkcionalni tonalitetni sustav i posezanje za mnogobrojnim skladbenim postupcima iz (osobito francuske) prošlosti, glavni su razlozi zbog kojih se C.A. Debussy smatra jednim od najvećih sintetičara u cijelokupnoj glazbenoj povijesti.

SUSANNA SAW (Malaysia) • Graduate from the Melba Memorial Conservatorium of Music, Australia. From 1996-1998, she was the tutor for The Australian Boys Choir Institute. Susanna obtained her certificate of Kodaly Teaching from University of Queensland in 2001. Since her return to Malaysia, she has founded The Young KL Singers and The KL Children's Choir, and is currently a lecturer and choir director at the Malaysian Institute of Arts and University of Malaya's Music Faculty choir. She also founded the Malaysian Choral Eisteddfod (formerly known as Young Singers Choral Festival) in 2003, an annual young musicians' event in Malaysia dedicated to the increase of choral knowledge through various invited choir tutors from overseas. Her latest venture in the choral scene was the establishment of the Young Choral Academy in Kuala Lumpur, a venue for choral lovers to learn more about choral music and a platform for young Malaysian composers and arrangers to compose more choral works. She was invited by Interkultur Foundation, Germany, to be a member of the Jury at the Asian Choir Games and World Choir Games since 2007, and has been appointed a Choir Olympic Council Member of the Foundation.

• An Introduction to Malaysian Choral Compositions (W) (E)

The culture of choral singing in Malaysia is still not very well developed. While there are many school choirs at primary, secondary and tertiary level, most confine their activities to performing two or three songs during school events, at inter-school choir competitions, or during special occasions. Even private choirs seldom find a chance to perform publicly. Historically, there have also been very few local composers who produce choral work. Choir teachers are usually the ones who arrange songs for their choirs. In recent years however, more choirs have started venturing into international choir competitions, most of which require an original local composition from the choir's country of origin. This has resulted in new choral compositions being commissioned from local composers. Malaysian music is difficult to categorise for the simple reason that it is a melting pot of various cultures – Malay, Indian and Chinese, as well as the indigenous peoples of Sabah and Sarawak. Contemporary Malaysian composers still wrestle with this question of Malaysian musical identity; this is reflected in their music, which is largely very atonal and experimental. This workshop aims to provide both an overview of the diversity of Malaysian culture, and an introduction to its rich musical heritage. Participants will also get the chance to experience this firsthand by singing various excerpts from arrangements of folk songs (Baba and Nyonya music; songs from Sabah and Sarawak; Borneo; and traditional Malay music), patriotic songs, and Contemporary local choral compositions.

• Djeca s posebnim potrebama i pjevanje na nastavi solfeggia (L) (Cro)

Djeca s posebnim potrebama nose u sebi velike mogućnosti umjetničkog izražavanja. S glazbom se takva djeca mogu susretati na različite načine, a bavljenje glazbom u glazbenim školama omogućava im potpunu potvrdu osobnosti i urodenih potencijala. U nastavi solfeggia djecu se raznim aktivnostima nastoji potaknuti na glazbeno izražavanje. Pjevanjem, slušanjem i različitim stvaralačkim aktivnostima razvijaju se i usavršavaju intonativne i ritamske vještine, razvija se glazbeno pamćenje, glazbeni ukus i muzikalnost. Pjevanje čini najs spontaniji i najprirodniji način glazbenog izražavanja djece. To je najmanje ograničavajuća aktivnost za učenike s posebnim potrebama, a time i omiljeni dio nastave solfeggia. Važno je znati metodički pravilno voditi ovu nastavu uz dobro osmišljene aktivnosti jer će to omogućiti njegovanje glasa, pravilan razvoj organa za disanje i govor, unapređenje intonativnih vještina te aktivno obrazovanje sluha. Sluh se u nastavi solfeggia, osim putem pjevanja, obrazuje i putem slušanja. Prepoznavanjem i zapisivanjem različitih melodija isto se tako stječu ritamska i intonacijska znanja i umijeća. Posebna pozornost može se posvetiti i različitim oblicima spontanog i svjesnog glazbenog stvaralaštva čime se može razvijati i dječja kreativnost. Svaku ritamsku i intonativnu pojavu može se obraditi na mnogo načina, ali pritom je važno odabrat one načine koji će omogućiti i aktivno uključivanje učenika s posebnim potrebama. U ovom radu prikazat ćemo kakve sve mogućnosti postoje za provođenje aktivnosti u kojima se ravnopravno s ostalom djecom mogu uključivati i djeca s posebnim potrebama. Naglasak ćemo pritom staviti na one aktivnosti kod kojih se djeca mogu glazbeno izraziti pjevanjem.

Ključne riječi: djeca s posebnim potrebama, pjevanje, solfeggio, ritamske vještine, intonativne vještine, prepoznavanje melodije, glazbeno stvaralaštvo

• Children With Special Needs and Singing in Solfege Classes

Children with special needs have the great capability of artistic expression. These children can be introduced to music in many different ways, but attending music schools enables them to confirm their innate potential and personality. Various activities in solfege lessons motivate children to express themselves musically. Singing, listening and diverse creative activities develop and improve intonative and rhythm skills, musical memory, musical taste and musicality. Singing is the most spontaneous and natural way of musical expression in children. It is the least limiting activity for children with special needs and therefore it is the most favourite part of solfege lessons. It is the responsibility of the teacher to guide the lessons according to methodological requirements and to include well developed activities as they aid the development of the children's voice, breathing organs and organs of speech. They also improve intonative skills and facilitate active ear training. In addition to singing, listening is another essential feature of ear training. Recognition and writing down of different melodies develop rhythm and intonative knowledge and skills. Special attention can be paid to different forms of spontaneous and conscious musical creativity as to develop the creativity in a child. Every rhythm and intonative appearance can be approached in many different ways, but it is important to choose those which will successfully engage children with special needs. This paper presents activities which enable children with special needs to equally participate with other children in the class. The focus is on those activities in which children with special needs can musically express themselves through singing.

Key words: children with special needs, singing, solfege, rhythm skills, intonative skills, melody recognition, musical creativity

• Uspješno planiranje probe – Put uspješnoga rada zbora (L) (Cro)

Predavanje će odgovoriti na pitanje kako planirati probu, da bismo mogli dostići željene ciljeve kako na području usavršavanja i muzičkog napretka zbora i njegovih pjevača tako i u postizanju što savršenije izvedbe pojedinačnih skladbi. Slušatelji će saznati na kojim područjima zborovskoga pevanja obično dolazi do poteškoća, kako je moguće poteškoće predvidjeti i pronaći za njih efikasna rješenja. Za dobру organizaciju probe izrazito značajni čimbenici su efikasnost i raznolikost probe. Stoga je potrebno poznavati različite faze rada sa zborom. Na kraju će biti govora o problemu komunikacije, prijedlogu vremenskoga rasporeda različitih aktivnosti tijekom probe te o opremljenosti prostora u kome se probe održavaju.

JELENA VLAŠIĆ DUIĆ (Croatia) (1973) • Završila je V. gimnaziju i srednju Funkcionalnu muzičku školu u Zagrebu. Na Filozofskom je fakultetu u Zagrebu diplomirala kroatistiku i fonetiku, a magistrirala je i doktorirala na Poslijediplomskom studiju hrvatskoga jezika. Viša je asistentica na Odsjeku za fonetiku na istome fakultetu. Objavila je niz znanstvenih članka u domaćim i stranim časopisima, a kao govorna trenerica surađivala je s nekoliko radijskih i televizijskih kuća.

• Filmski zvuk: govor, šum i glazba (L) (Cro)

Filmski je zvuk svaki čujni zvuk (govor, glazba ili šum) koji je funkcionalno vezan uz filmsko djelo. U hrvatskim filmovima iz druge polovice 20. stoljeća (Koncert, Martin u oblacima, Imam dvije mame i dva tate, Kad čuješ zvona, Tko pjeva zlo ne misli, Razmeda, Mećava, Izgubljeni zavičaj, Glembajevi, Kako je počeo rat na mom otoku i Blagajnica hoće ići na more) analizira se ponajprije govor kao najvažnija zvučna komponenta. Proučava se upotreba dijalekata i upotreba standarda, govorni izrazi emocija, funkcije i struktura govora te se istražuje koliko je govor u hrvatskome filmu prirodan. Govor je spoj glasa i teksta, odnosno spoj posebnih govornih i jezičnih znakova koji se istodobno realiziraju pa je teško odrediti količinu informacija što ih donose glas odnosno tekst. Pri oblikovanju govora, glumac svjesno daje prednost sad jednom, sad drugom govornom sloju. Realističnom se smatra gluma koja teži stvaranju dojma svakodnevna, pa i tipična čovjekova ponašanja, a u takvoj glumi govor mora biti prirođan. Najmanje su spontane govorne izvedbe u filmovima u kojima je gluma teatralna, stilizirana. Istraživanje je pokazalo da se najprirodnije govori u filmovima Mećava i Kad čuješ zvona, a najneprirodnije u Koncertu i Glembajevima. Film bira iz izvanjskog svijeta, ne može prezentirati sve, a za slušnu selekciju, tj. odabir onih zvukova koji su gledatelju važni, zaslужan je redatelj. Ako se govor i glazba slabo raspoznaju i ako nisu povezani sa središnjim zbivanjem u prizoru, poistovjećuju se sa šumom. U analiziranom korpusu analizira se funkcija upravo takve uporabe šuma. Filmski teoretičari glazbu tretiraju kao oblik komunikacije, pa često ističu da funkcioniра poput govora. U hijerarhiji filmskih zvukova glazba je na trećem mjestu (nakon govora i šuma) jer ne doprinosi prirodnosti, izvanprizorna je i nije činjenica svakodnevnoga života, uostalom, filmski je likovi ne čuju. Ima, međutim, primjera u kojima se spomenuta hijerarhija narušava, npr: sugovornici ostaju bez riječi, a emocije se izražavaju glazbom. Glazba tada preuzima funkciju govora.

ZDENKA WEBER (Croatia) • Godine 1974. diplomirala engleski i njemački jezik na Filozofskom fakultetu Sveučilišta u Zagrebu i 1975. muzikologiju na Muzičkoj akademiji u Zagrebu. Od 1978. do 1980. stipendistica Francuske vlade. 1985. obranila doktorat na Sveučilištu Sorbonne u Parizu na temu Recepција glazbe Claudea Debussyja u Hrvatskoj. Od 1974. do 94. radila u Muzikološkom zavodu Muzičke akademije u Zagrebu. Usavršavala se na Sveučilištu u Beču (1975.), na Slobodnom sveučilištu u Berlinu (stipendija DAAD, 1987.) i na Tehničkom sveučilištu u Berlinu (stipendija DAAD, 1989.). Od 1980. do 1985. predavala povijest glazbe na Muzičkoj akademiji u Zagrebu, a od 1985. do 1990. na Pedagoškom fakultetu Sveučilišta u Osijeku. 1991./1992. predavala na Visokoj glazbenoj školi Hanns Eisler u Berlinu i radila u Institutu za muzikološka istraživanja Preussischer Kulturbesitz, a od 1992.-97. u Deutsche Oper Berlin. Od 1997. do 2001. savjetnica je za kulturu u Veleposlanstvu Republike Hrvatske u Berlinu a od 2001. savjetnica u Odjelu za kulturu Samostalne službe za Hrvate u inozemstvu i kulturu Ministarstva vanjskih poslova RH u Zagrebu. Od 1972. kontinuirano se bavi glazbenom publicistikom i objavljuje u hrvatskim i inozemnim dnevnim novinama, tjednicima i časopisima kao i na radiju i televiziji. Od 1974. objavljuje muzikološke rade u zemlji i inozemstvu. 1995. objavila knjigu Impresionizam u hrvatskoj glazbi: recepcija glazbe Claudea Debussyja u Hrvatskoj 1918.-1940. (Nakladni zavod Matice Hrvatske, Zagreb). Od 1975. članica Hrvatskog društva skladatelja, od 1992. Hrvatskog muzikološkog društva, a od 1997. Znanstvenog savjeta kongresa Cultura europea Sveučilišta u Pamploni (Španjolska). Znanstveni i stručni radovi objavljeni u Hrvatskoj, Sloveniji, Makedoniji, Bosni i Hercegovini, Srbiji, SR Njemačkoj, Španjolskoj, Poljskoj, Izraelu, Danskoj, Švedskoj i Francuskoj. Sudjelovala na muzikološkim kongresima, znanstvenim simpozijima i stručnim skupovima (Zagreb, Varaždin, Našice, Osijek, Krk, Osor, Grožnjan, Opatija, Ljubljana, Beograd, Đakovica, Skopje, Sarajevo, Beč, Graz, Bologna, Berlin, Unna, Leipzig, Pariz, Bordeaux, Strasbourg, Aalborg, Goeteborg, Tokyo, Haifa, Madrid, Pamplona, Lodz, Poznan, Varšava). Predsjednica Udruge poklonika Milke Trnine. • Članstvo u amaterskom pjevačkom zboru – to nije samo pjevanje (L) (Cro)

Učlanjivanje u amaterske, neprofesionalne pjevačke zborove prati od građanskog razdoblja 19. stoljeća pa sve do danas želja za zajedničkim muziciranjem i druženjem s istomišljenicima kada je riječ o ljubavi prema glazbi. U tom se pogledu ovim prilogom želi dati povjesni razvoj glazben kulture u Hrvatskoj na području amaterskog zborskog pjevanja. Posebno je uzet u obzir tijek nacionalnog osvjećivanja i poticanja vlastitog, hrvatskog kulturnog identiteta. U dalnjem se istraživanju, anketom na koju su se odazvali članovi pet amaterskih pjevačkih zborova (dva iz Varaždina i tri iz Zagreba), želi detektirati motive koji potiču ljubitelje vokalne glazbe danas na učlanjivanje u amaterski pjevački zbor. Nadalje, želi se otkriti odnos prema repertoaru koji izabrani zbor izvodi, eventualno sudjelovanje u koncipiranju programa, interes prigodom gostovanja zbara izvan mjesta djelovanja, stupanj zajedništva ostvarenog unutar zbara, namjere vezane uz natjecateljski karakter zbara, kao i utvrđiti očekivanja koje članovi imaju u odnosu na voditelja zbara te potencijalne razloge za napuštanje zbara. Kako su uključeni amateri-pjevači različitih dobi i obrazovne razine, poticajno je analizirati njihove odgovore kako bi se došlo do novih vrijednih spoznaja o pobudama koje vode današnje učlanjivanje u amaterske pjevačke zborove kao i pratiti ispunjenje njihovih očekivanja i želja, budući da je članstvom angažiran znatan dio slobodnog vremena, a nerijetko i finansijska ulaganja.

• Choir in Classical Turkish Performance Style (L) (E)

With its deep rooted history, Classical Turkish music is divided into religious and irreligious forms. In this study, understanding of chorus in performance style of our irreligious music will be investigated. There have been different developments in the band performance this type of music, formerly transferred from generation to generation by bands, accompanied by instruments and the notion of mentor system. The most significant one is the change in żfasıl. Decrease in the number of classical fasıl performances due to the establishment of opera, theater, and orchestras, which are seen as westernization etiquettes, increasing preference of choral performance over solo are all said to be the reason why the tradition of pşrev performances as a whole has been vanished. Establishment of the 'Classical Choir' in Ankara Radio at the end of 1930s is regarded as one of the best favorable practices, and this choral in which women voices are also included, is assumed to be the starting point of one of the biggest performance schools in our music history. Ottoman Padishah Sultan II. Mahmut dissolved, as a part of westernization movements, the guild of janissaries and closed the Mehterhane-i Hümâyün, which he regarded as a part of guild of janissaries (1826). It was replaced by Muzika-i Hümâyün to carry out performance and instruction in a western style, and Italian Giuseppe Donizetti was assigned as the head of this institution. Thanks to Donizetti and the academic staff with him, western style choir took place in our music. However, there are differences in the working style of these choirs, in terms of western understanding of choir. The conductors of these choirs could not be provided with necessary background instruction on choir and conducting. This study, aiming at exploring the choral performance style in Turkish Classical Music, will investigate the beginning and the development process, through a survey study, within the aforementioned frame.

DR. SC. DOMAGOJ ŽABAROVIĆ (Croatia) • Rođen je 19. rujna 1957. godine u Vinkovcima. Osnovnu i srednju školu završio je u Osijeku te je diplomirao na Stomatološkom fakultetu Sveučilišta u Zagrebu 19. studenog 1982. godine. Specijalizaciju iz stomatološke protetike obavio je na Stomatološkom fakultetu u Zagrebu, a specijalistički ispit je položio 16. svibnja 1996. godine. Od 2. rujna 1996. god. radi na Zavodu za stomatološku protetiku Kliničke bolnice "Dubrava" gdje radi i danas kao specijalista stomatološke protetike. Magistarski rad iz područja stomatološke protetike obranio je 16. srpnja 1998. godine, a Disertaciju je obranio 2004.godine. Od 1999. g djelatnik je Stomatološkog fakulteta u Zagrebu na Zavodu za stomatološku protetiku na kojem radi i danas kao znanstveni suradnik. Autor je više desetaka radova od kojih su četiri u CC časopisima, znanstveni istraživač na dva aktivna projekta iz područja stomatologije. (www.imed.hr)

• Estetska i funkcionalna važnost zubi te osobitosti izrade zubnih nadomjestaka kod vokalnih umjetnika (L) (Cro)

Predavanje ispred Poliklinike IMED

Glas, govor, pjevanje kao osnovni "alat" pjevača, glumaca i govornika nastaje kao rezultat složenih fizioloških procesa: respiracije, fonacije, rezonancije, artikulacije i integracije. Pravilan glas i artikulacija postiže se samo ako su svi navedeni sustavi u idealnoj harmoniji. Usna šupljina i zubi imaju u tome ulogu glavnog rezonatora koji je ključni za nastanak većine glasova. U predavanju će biti pojašnjena uloga zubi u oblikovanju glasa, te istaknute posljedice gubitka zubi na kvalitetu glasa. Posebno će biti prikazane osobitosti u izradi protetskih radova kod vokalnih umjetnika, te utjecaj pojedine vrste protetskog rada na kvalitetu glasa i artikulaciju. Estetika kod ovog visoko specifičnog dijela populacije je neupitna, pa će se u predavanju prikazati mogućnosti današnje suvremene stomatologije i naše Poliklinike na području estetike. Estetski rezultati biti će prikazani primjerima nakon pojedinih stomatoloških zahvata (profilaktičkih, ortodontskih, konzervativnih, kirurških i protetskih).
